

May 10, 2010

Page 1 of 2

Veloce
8102 161st Avenue
Redmond, WA 98052
(P) 425-882-0103 (F) 425-882-4770

To the Management of Veloce,

During February 2010 and March 2010, Elana came into the Lounge in Building A and watched television without incident.

During middle of April 2010, one evening, we came into the Lounge in Building A and started watching television when suddenly we heard water running continually for at least fifteen minutes in the Lounge's bathroom. After that, a black man about five feet ten inches tall, slender, with black curly hair, a black curly beard, and a black curly moustache, wearing a red "v" necked pullover sweater with the word Wisconsin written on it came out of the bathroom, went into the kitchen, and ran water in the kitchen sink continually for at least another ten minutes. After he was finished running the water, he looked up and stared at us but said nothing. Then he left. For the rest of that week, this same man re-appeared in the Lounge several times to run water continually in both the bathroom and kitchen and then to stare at Elana who was watching television alone in the Lounge, without saying a word, and then left.

On the third week of April, Elana came into the Lounge to watch television. Elana activated the remote control in order to turn on the television. But the television would not respond to the remote control's commands because someone had removed its batteries. A day later, Elana returned to the Lounge and watched television because someone had put two Duracell batteries into the remote control. A day later, Elana returned to the Lounge but was unable to watch television because someone had taken the batteries out of the remote control. A day later, Elana returned to the Lounge and watched television because someone had put two Panasonic batteries into the remote control. A day later, Elana returned to the Lounge but was unable to watch television because someone had once again removed the batteries from the remote control. For the next two days, Elana was able to watch television, but only because, Elana bought two AA Ever Ready batteries and inserted them into the remote control.

On the fourth week of April, Elana came into the Lounge Room to watch television. As usual, in accordance with the instructions furnished by Veloce Leasing Agent Michael Sybrant, she pressed the "power" button followed by the "all on" button on the Comcast remote control. Two green lights flashed on the television on the right side of its panel. After that, she pressed the "cable" button followed by the "power" button on the Comcast remote control. A green light flashed on the cable box next to the television set. The television came on but there was no picture. For the entire week Elana was unable to watch television. On the Sunday of the fourth week, Elana came down to the Lounge and saw a group of Oriental looking people doing something with the wires from the cable box of the television set. Shortly after, she saw the television screen displaying a picture and the Oriental people watching it.

The first week of May, Elana came into the Lounge to watch television but she could not find the Comcast remote control that operates it. So Elana and Michael went to Ace Hardware in Bellevue and bought a Phillips Universal Remote Control, inserted two AAA Duracell Batteries into it, and used it to select the input signal that the television would use. We used our Remote Control to set the television to input #6, because the wiring from the Comcast box to the television went into input #6. After that, the television displayed a picture and we were once again able to watch television.

May 10, 2010

Page 2 of 2

To the Management of Veloce

While we were watching television, the black man about five feet ten inches tall, slender, with black curly hair, a black curly beard, and a black curly moustache, wearing a red "v" necked pullover sweater with the word Wisconsin written on it came into the Lounge. Now he said hello to us. So we said hello back. He got friendly with us. He told us his name was Lawrence. He told us he lived in Apartment A226. We got in a conversation about how somebody had taken the Comcast remote control from the Lounge and never brought it back. Elana said she wondered why someone would do such a thing. He volunteered that they took it because they are selfish and desire to have the television all to themselves. Elana commented that that was wrong since all of the tenants pay rent and so all of the tenants have a right to watch it since it is a communal amenity. Elana asked him if he would like to watch television with us. He indicated that he would. We were watching the Sci Fi channel 59. He told us he wanted to watch Comedy Central channel 61 and told us to turn up the volume. Elana said that she did not want to because it was late evening and she did not wish to disturb the neighbors above us. He said there was no apartment above us. We went to the second floor to verify his claim only to discover that A207 was immediately above the Lounge. And so we reiterated that we would not turn up the volume on the television set because we did not desire to disturb the other tenants. After that, he left. A little while later he came back went into the bathroom and ran the water continually for at least fifteen minutes in the bathroom sink. After that he went into the kitchen and ran water in the kitchen sink continually for at least another ten minutes. After he was finished running the water, he left.

Since then, whenever we come to the lounge to watch television, a few moments later, this man who identified himself as Lawrence shows up to interrupt us by running water in the bathroom and kitchen, talking to us while we are trying to watch television, then leaving, only to come back a few minutes later over and over and over again for the entire time that we are in the lounge. We believe that he is both stalking us and harassing us. We are afraid that, even if we go to the theatre room to watch television, he will stalk us and harass us while we are there. Thusly, we no longer feel safe living here, and we are being prevented from using the amenities that we pay for.

Sincerely,

---

Elana Laham and Michael Laham
8208 161st Avenue #A514
Redmond, WA 98052

Transmission Log

The Boeing Company

Monday, 2010-05-10 08:33

4259658590

Date	Time	Type	Job #	Length	Speed	Station Name/Number	Pgs	Status
2010-05-10	08:32	SCAN	03192	1:10	14400	84258824770	2	OK -- V.17 2M31

May 10, 2010

Page 1 of 2

Veloce
8102 161st Avenue
Redmond, WA 98052
(P) 425-882-0103 (F) 425-882-4770

To the Management of Veloce,

During February 2010 and March 2010, Elana came into the Lounge in Building A and watched television without incident.

During middle of April 2010, one evening, we came into the Lounge in Building A and started watching television when suddenly we heard water running continually for at least fifteen minutes in the Lounge's bathroom. After that, a black man about five feet ten inches tall, slender, with black curly hair, a black curly beard, and a black curly moustache, wearing a red "v" necked pullover sweater with the word Wisconsin written on it came out of the bathroom, went into the kitchen, and ran water in the kitchen sink continually for at least another ten minutes. After he was finished running the water, he looked up and stared at us but said nothing. Then he left. For the rest of that week, this same man re-appeared in the Lounge several times to run water continually in both the bathroom and kitchen and then to stare at Elana who was watching television alone in the Lounge, without saying a word, and then left.

On the third week of April, Elana came into the Lounge to watch television. Elana activated the remote control in order to turn on the television. But the television would not respond to the remote control's commands because someone had removed its batteries. A day later, Elana returned to the Lounge and watched television because someone had put two Duracell batteries into the remote control. A day later, Elana returned to the Lounge but was unable to watch television because someone had taken the batteries out of the remote control. A day later, Elana returned to the Lounge and watched television because someone had put two Panasonic batteries into the remote control. A day later, Elana returned to the Lounge but was unable to watch television because someone had once again removed the batteries from the remote control. For the next two days, Elana was able to watch television, but only because, Elana bought two AA Ever Ready batteries and inserted them into the remote control.

On the fourth week of April, Elana came into the Lounge Room to watch television. As usual, in accordance with the instructions furnished by Veloce Leasing Agent Michael Sybrant, she pressed the "power" button followed by the "all on" button on the Comcast remote control. Two green lights flashed on the television on the right side of its panel. After that, she pressed the "cable" button followed by the "power" button on the Comcast remote control. A green light flashed on the cable box next to the television set. The television came on but there was no picture. For the entire week Elana was unable to watch television. On the Sunday of the fourth week, Elana came down to the Lounge and saw a group of Oriental looking people doing something with the wires from the cable box of the television set. Shortly after, she saw the television screen displaying a picture and the Oriental people watching it.

The first week of May, Elana came into the Lounge to watch television but she could not find the Comcast remote control that operates it. So Elana and Michael went to Ace Hardware in Bellevue and bought a Phillips Universal Remote Control, inserted two AAA Duracell Batteries into it, and used it to select the input signal that the television would use. We used our Remote Control to set the television to input #6, because the wiring from the Comcast box to the television went into input #6. After that, the television displayed a picture and we were once again able to watch television.