Hi Michael and Elana,

I'm glad we had a chance to speak and address your concerns. I'm hoping I was able to articulate myself properly and that you have a comfortable understanding of why Google is showing the results that they do. This stuff all gets easier as you continue to work with it, so you're doing the right things by asking questions and being engaged.

As we spoke about earlier, you can do something called a 'Fetch as Google' which will tell the search engine to 're-crawl' your website and reflect any changes to your meta description and title tags in their search results. You can setup a Webmaster Tools account here:

www.google.com/webmasters/tools/.

To do the 'fetch', follow the instructions near the bottom of this page:

<https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/158587?hl=en>. If you have any questions about this, let me know.

Let me know if I forgot to address anything – I think this covers it!

All the best,

Joey Belk
